

JOLI ROME

Keyboardist, Accordionist, Vocalist

Joli Rome is an instrumentalist specializing in piano, keyboards, accordion, as well as a composer and singer songwriter. From a musical family, Joli began studying the piano, accordion and violin at the age of 3, later studying the flute, piccolo and voice, as well. Joli is a first generation Cuban American, her mother a music teacher and her father a chemist. Her two older siblings are musicians, all majoring in music in college. Joli has won numerous national and international championships on the accordion, violin, and piano. She has been featured as a soloist and has performed with orchestras in the US and Europe. Joli attended Columbia University, where she majored in music, concentrating in composition, and attended law school at Indiana University in Bloomington. She did post graduate composition study at Temple University. Joli is married to Stephen, a talented singer and son of a retired professional singer and ballerina. She is delighted to be with the Gypsy Star Band!
